Family Voices is hosting a virtual listening session to hear directly from families who care for children with disabilities and special health care needs.

Your ideas and stories influence our public policy and advocacy efforts.

State agency representatives and organizations that serve children will take part to hear directly from you.

Some of the questions we may ask at the session:

• What has been the most challenging issue or biggest barrier you have experienced as you care for your child with a disability?

• What programs and resources have been the most helpful to your family?

• If you could change or update a policy or regulation, what would it be and why?

Each family has a voice. Together, our voices will be heard.
